

Researching Youth Sport:

Exploring the Challenges and Opportunities of Youth Sport Research

Brunel University with Loughborough University

Tuesday September 11th 2007

The Centre for Youth Sport and Athlete Welfare at Brunel University, together with the Institute for Youth Sport at Loughborough University, invites you to a one-day conference on 'Researching Youth Sport: Exploring the challenges and opportunities of youth sport research' on Tuesday 11th September at Brunel University, Uxbridge. The conference will bring together researchers, academics and sport professionals to share their knowledge and experience, to explore ways of empowering young people in and through research and to examine other key challenges for researchers in children's and youth sport. The event will incorporate a specialist stream on ethical and safeguarding considerations in laboratory work for sport scientists who conduct research with under 18s.

Conference streams:

- Participatory research with children and young people
- Ethics and safeguarding issues in sport science research
- What do users want? Youth sport research from the user's perspective
- Researching youth sport and social inclusion

SPEAKERS INCLUDE:

Perpetua Kirby, researcher and consultant to the DfES on participatory research with young people; Nick Rowe, Sport England Research Unit; Mary Nevill and Tess Kay, Institute for Youth Sport; Craig Williams, Convenor, BASES Paediatric Exercise Specialist Interest Group; Scott Fleming, UWIC; Steve Boocock, Child Protection in Sport Unit; Julian North, Sport Coach UK Research Manager and others . . .
